MANY CANDIDATES FOR ASSEMBLYMAN

Fears That the Aust-Tammany Men May Turn Over Some of the Close Districts to the Republicans—The County Ticket. All of the candidates of the regular political organizations for Aldermen and Assembly-men will be nominated this week, unless the Conventions which are called to name them should adjourn beyond the day fixed. This is a possibility in some of the close districts and in those where there is a threat of independent candidactes. In a straight fight between Tammany Hall and the Republicans there would be little doubt of the result, which would be that probably no more than three Republican Assemblymen and a like number of Aldermen would be elected in the city. These would some from the Eleventh, Twenty-first, and Twenty-third districts, into which the Republican majorities were crowded by the reapportionment of the city districts. But with an increase in the number of Assembly districts by six there has been a natural decrease of Tammany majorities in particular districts, and this decrease candidate may be running. As Tammany Hall will elect the great majority of these district representatives in the greatest interest naturally attaches to the question who will be the Wigwam nominees. In many districts they have already been definitely selected, and the selection will be ratifled by the Conventions to be held next Friday night. In other districts there are alternative candidates, the choice to be determinate upon the action of the opposition. In others still the selection has not been settled. Following are the probable Tammany Hall nominees for Assemblymen and Aldermen in the districts given:

Very little interest centres in the Republican nominations for Aldermen and Assemblymen, except in the Eleventh district, which has the biggest Republican majority of any of the three concededly Republican. There the rival candidates for the Assembly nomination are Job F. Hedges, who is friendly with the Milholland faction, and John Sabine Smith, who trains with the regulars under Col. George Bifss. Among the candidates for Aldermen are Charles W. Anderson, the colored orator, and Be, P. H. Jurphy.

trifing with the regulars under Cel. George Bliss. Among the candidates for Aldermen are tharles W. Anderson, the colored orator, and Br. P. H. Murphy.

Jocai fights have always had mere or less effect on the vote for State and national candidates, but this year the fear is entertained that the contests for the minor places will be a greater factor in the Presidential race than ever before. As a Tammany leader put it yesterday, in referring to the new apportionment:

We are digning in new ground, and we don't know what the crop will be. Making district nominations is not see asy as it has been. In very few districts can it be said that the present Assemblyman or Alderman has a prior lien on the nomination. This prior lien business has heretofore kept hundreds of candidates out of the field and made it easy for the leaders to make selection without rousing too many jealousies. This year things are very different. Boundary lines of districts have been changed, and communities with diverse interests have been thrown together. Everybody who wants to be an Alderman or an Assemblyman considers that the lists are open, and the contests waging for the Tammany nominations bisome casesarevery bitter. It is the district leader's business to steer a very careful course to satisfy all interests, or rather to antagonize as lew as possible. The job is made especially difficult in some districts by the evident intention of some persons who call themselves Democrats to put candidates in the field for both Alderman and Assemblyman, thus endangering the Democratic cause by making it possible to lose not only the Legislature but a United States Senator as well. Their distike of Tammany Hall is the only argument advanced by these foolish men for their action so infinical to party interests."

The voli which shrouds the personnel of the Tammany Hall city and county ticket to be named next week has not yet been lifted. Political gossips have dived into it and emerged with what they rather doubtfully said was the slate, but those slat the candidate for Mayor out of the considera-tion, the slate which was originally accepted as the straight tip was: For President of the Board of Aldernan—John H. V. Arnold.

G.
Register—John Van Glahn.
Chunty Clerk—William J. McKenna.
Judge of the Court of Common Piess—Leonard A legerion.
For City Judge-Henry D. Purroy.
For Additional Surregule-Frank T. Fitzgerald.

For Gity Judge-Henry B. Purroy.
For Additional Surguie-Frank T. Fitzgerald.

Since that slate was posted high jinks have been played with it. Commissioner Purroy, it has been asserted, will run for Register and not for City Judge Chenga, although he is a Republican. This would leave Mr. Von Glahn out of the calculation. Then came the rumor that County Clerk McKenna would not be nominated for the office which he has held by appointment, but that Edward T. Fitzpatrick's name would grace the ticket instead. Then this was contradicted. There has even been gossip to the effect that Judge Giegerich might not be nominated to succeed himself and that the place-may possibly be given to a prominent Hebrew lawyer, not named.

The Democratic National Committee is making an effort to secure the support of the full Jewish vote for Cleveland and Stevenson.

COLONIZING NEGROES UP THE BUDSON The Republican Way of Securing an Honost Vote in New York State.

KINGSTON, Oct. 8 .- A Republican scheme to solonize colored men in this and other cities throughout the State has just come to light. As a number of colored men are employed in the brickyards and in boating along this part of the Hudson, the plan was to run in about fifty Southern negroes here, where their votes would have a telling effect. A similar numwould have a telling effect. A similar number are to be colonized at Newburgh, Pough, keepsie, and Hudson, with some at Fishkill Landing, Saugerties, Athens, and Coeyman's. It is expected to place upward of 300 of these illegal voters along the Hudson River alone. Colored agents working in the interest of the Administration have been here and at other places during the present week. A sharp watch will be kept to prevent these illegal voters, even if registered, from casting their votes on election day. An accurate list of colored residents at the first of the present month is being made up, and no others will be permitted to vote. Should they attempt to do so they will be arrested as suspicious characters.

There was harmony in every part of the State.

AS JOHN SHERMAN SEES IT THE SENATOR TALKS TO PHILA-DELPHIANS ON POLITICAL ISSUES.

He Has Much to Say on the Tapiff, Sliver, State Banks, and Talks on Their Con-nection with the Ideas of the Confederacy. PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8. Senator John Sherman arrived in this city at 2% o'clock this afternoon and was met by the committee of the Manufacturars' Club which has charge of the Manufacturars Club which has charge of a series of Kepublican meetings.

The Senator's afternoon was largely taken up by an impromptu reception. When asked what he thought of the situation he said:

"I believe that the result of the contest depends upon New York. The general idea is that there is a wonderful apathy in the canvass. This may be so so far as the speech-making is concerned, but the result of my observation has been that this feeling does not extend to the people. The public is taking a great part in this canvass, and they are anything but apathetic. Their interest seems to be intense." The Academy of Music was filled this even-tariff for protection is unconstitutional and is a fraud upon the laborer for the benefit of a a fraud upon the laborer for the benefit of a few. This has not been done in secret nor with the equivocal phrases or limitations, but openly, after debate and a vote by the strong majority of 514 years to 345 nays, in a Demoratic Convention in which every district and State and Territory was fully represented. It was done after the usual Committee on Resolutions had reported the usual equivocal and deceptive slatform in favor of a tariff with incidental protection. This was stricken out. This is a bold declaration, as bold as the rebellion, and should be mot by the American people in the same spirit as they met the restellion. There should be no true or pariey until the issue is determined, not by war, but by the votes of the American people. The significant fact appears that this resolution was voted against by the great-producing States of the North and voted for by the late Conan beilion, and should be mot type to particular beilion. There should be no truce or particular beilion. There should be not some of the particular beilion. The should be not some of the particular beilion. The should be not some of the particular beilion. the liepublican party and of the broducing classes, both employers and employed, of the property and extent of protection to American industries by tariff laws.

He spoke of the recent report of the Committee of Finance of the Senate and the report of Commissioner Peck. He added: "It has opened up the free trade market for our breadstuffs, provisions, and grain by reciprocal treaties with several nations as the just equivalent of free introduction of certain articles into our markets that we cannot produce, a contribution to the prosperity of our country by one of its mest eminent and popular statesmen, James G. Biaine.

"The policy of protection is the policy for the farmer, the manufacturer, the laborer, the producer in every field of industry. And although the results of labor and capital may not always be fairly apportioned between the employers and employed, yet they are alike interested against the policy that would compoi them to a hard and close competition with aggregated wealth and chronic pauperism as it exists in European and Asiatic countries. Old-fashioned Democrats and Republicans ought to unite on this question. It was the old Republican party of Jefferson and Jackson that, under the lead of its founders, established the duty and policy of protection. And it is the Republican party of Jefferson and Jackson that, under the lead of its founders, established the duty and policy of protection. And it is the result has accomplished for our country all and more than our fathers hoped for."

In speaking of free coinage Mr. Sherman and that that all the silver now in dom, and as the result has accomplished for our country all and more than our fathers hoped for."

In speaking of free coinage Mr. Sherman said that it meant that all the silver now in existence, estimated at $4.000.000.000, and all silver hereafter mined, amounting last year, at coinage value, to $185,000.000, and annually increasing, could be brought to our mints and ceined into dollars at the expense of the United States. The inevitable effect would be to reduce the purchasing power of the dollar to 67 cents.

"I believe President Harrison would veto a free coinage bill; what Mr. Cleveland would do I cannot say. He does not tell us. The subject will enter largely into Congressional debates. No man ought to be elected to Congress whose position on this question is not clear and unequivocal. The wage enrier must take his pay in current money. If the purchasing power of his wages is reduced he will have a hard road to travel to get his pay increased. This thing of good money is more important to the common people—to the poor and the rich—than any other question now pending. It is better to secure the concurrence of other common rish antions to this policy, but if they will not join as then let us go it alone. Let us set an example to all nations of honest coins of full weight and value, both of silver and of coid.

of full weight and value, both of silver and of gold.

We cannot go on purchasing silver in a declining market much longer without producing a collapse of our whole system of currency. Therefore, in any event, the existing law ought to be so changed that in case the further purchase of silver buillion tends to cause the hourding or expertation of gold, its purchase should be suspended and a portion of the vast hoard in the Treasury sold by the Secretary of the Treasury and the proceeds applied either to the payment of Treasury notes or to the purchase of gold. Only in this way, or by the adoption of a new ratio, can the applied either to the payment of Treasury notes or to the purchase of gold. Only in this way, or by the adoption of a new ratio, can the parity of the two metals he maintained.

"I sincerely hope that the efforts now being made by President Harrison to secure a new ratio for the edinar of sliver and gold by the leading commercial lations may succeed, and that if it fails the Democratic and Republican parties will unite in the support of a law that will put enough sliver in the sliver dollar of the United States equal in intrinse or market value to the gold in the gold dollar, and will then maintain the equality of value in all the coins of the United States. I believe such a measure will place us in the forefront among nations in the financial world."

The Senator then discussed State bank currency, first from a historical standpoint going back to the adeption of the Constitution. In taiking of the system at the time of the war he said: When I recall this raging, bobtail, wildeat paper money and the warnings and denunciations of the ablest statesmen of our country of all parties against its constitutionality, its credit, its worthessness. I feel sure that the sober second thought of conservative lemecrats will not consent to its restoration or its substitution for lational currency. Their and safely provide for the circulation and redemption of United States notes. The good and silver now in its vaults is an ample basis for its redemption of all its notes and certificates outstanding, and if more are needed for the convenience of its people more gold and silver can be purchased with its notes without increasing its bonded debt. After enjoying the benefits of a safe and sound redeemable currency for the thirteen years since the resumption of specie payments, the people need not resert either to irredeemable money issued by the Government, such as we had before resumption, or to the loss, bankruptcy, and ruin caused by State bank money before the war.

I wish to treat the Democratic party fairly. It is composed of a great body of our fellow citizens, as honest and as patriotic as we claim to be, but the drift of events in the last forty years has carried that party from its old moorings into opposition to nearly every doctrine and line of public policy it advocated prior to 1833. Since then the strength of that party has been in the Southern States, and its great leaders were the distinguished statesmen of the South. They believed in a protective tariff, in sound money, in a national currency, and were opposed to State banks. They taught, spoke, and lived and died in that faith. But, unfortunately, the South became impregnated. Inoculated, and possessed with the vices of African slavery.

"When the Southern Democracy after the war were restored to their full power in the South, and had substantially deprived the colored people of their right to vote but not of their liberty, they naturally revived the issues of the war. In the old issues of Jeffersonian Democracy, but the issues of Jeffersonian Democracy, the slumbering issues of Jeffersonian Democracy, the slumbering issues of Jeffersonian democracy, the slumbering issues of the war. They were for a tariff for revenue only, as prescribed by the Confederate Constitution, and not for protective duties favored by Jefferson and Jackson. They now prop

It was evident that Col. Ingersoll's opinion of Col. Shepard had been acquired by more than casual observation. One of the stories told of the editor illustrates Col. Ingersoll's contempt of Shepard. At a social event in New York recently a prominent society man escorted Mrs. Shepard to dinner.

Col. Shepard tollowed with another lady. As the party entered the dining room Mrs. Shepard's escort stopped to introduce her to a friend, saying: "Mrs. Blank, let me introduce Mrs. Elliott F. In introducing Mr. Quincy Mr. Anderson said that the battle was being fought out on the issue presented by the club. He declared that the Reform Club issue was the only issue of the campaign.

Mr. Quincy said he appreciated the great value of the service done by the State for tariff reform. He declared that tariff reform outwelghed all other issues, and that it was a recent one, dating back only to the campaign of four years ago.

He denounced the Republicans for "frying the fat" out of protected manufacturers, and declared that the party was establishing a bolitical plutocracy of manufacturers, was dehauching politics, corrupting voters, and undermining the foundation of our free institutions.

"Take away from the party the support of the protected manufacturers," he said, "and no same man will assert that it would have the ghost of a chance of carrying this election." In conclusion Mr. Quincy said:

"I have the greater confidence of Democratic success in this election because of the fact that the people have found the man who is manifestly endowed with the public all the manufacturer ago, without a precedent or a parallel in American political career, beginning only ten years ago, without a precedent or a parallel in American politics, indicates that he is called to perform some great work; his work was not done, was, indeed, only begun when he left the White House in 1883. Trusting in the divinity which has so often shaped the political ends of this country. I believe with a deep conviction that seems to me to rest upon the eternal verities that the cause of the people will triumph over all its enemies, and that Grover Cleveland will be the next President of the United States."

Shouts of "Hear! Hear!" and great applause ensued. Mr. Lee Merryweather of Missouri made a speech about convict labor.

WHAT MR. BONNER DID BAY. Pacts for Budd Doblo-Mr. Bouner Willing

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 8.-Budd Doble, the famous horseman, talked yesterday upon the subject of Robert Bonner's refusal to pay the $5,000 offered by him some time since to the owner of the trotter who should first reach the record of 2:05. Doble, after Nancy Hanks made her record at Terre Haute, telegraphed to Mr. Bonner reminding him of the offer. The millionaire editor and horseman declined to pay the money, on the ground that the Terre Haute track was not of the regulation variety and that the sulky drawn by Nancy Hanks in her race was not of the kind generally used when the offer was made. Mr. Doble said that when Mr. Bonner made his statement he understood him to mean only kite-shape and straight-mile tracks were to be excluded. While it is true that the Terre Haute track is not a regulation track. Doble claims that it is even slower, for the reason that while the regulation has two turns and two long stretches, the one on which the 2:04 record was made has four turns and four stretches. "In regard to the objection to the kind of sulky used," said Mr. Doble, "it strikes me that Mr. Bonner's expressed reasons for not paying the money are rather puerile."

Mr. Bonner said last night, in reference to

Mr. Bonner said last night, in reference to the above despatch:

"I cannot believe that Budd Doble made such a statement. There has been no communication between us in reference to Nancy Hanks's achievement beyond a telegram Doble sont me stating the time Nancy Hanks had made at Terre Haute. There was no allusion to my offer in the despatch, which contained only the announcement that Nancy Hanks had trotted in 2:04.

"When she trotted the year before he sent me a telegram framed in almost exactly the same words. Besides, my offer is explicitly restricted to records made on the Grand Circuit tracks from Cleveland to Hartford, which would include Hechester and Buffalo.

"We know what horses can do on these Grand Circuit tracks and know nothing of what might be done on the Western tracks. My offer was made last November, and is to continue for two years from that time. To the owner of any horse that will trot in the time and on the tracks mentioned in my letter within the period specified. I am ready to pay the money."

within the period specified, I am ready to pay the money."

Below is a copy of the letter written by Robert Bonner to Gen. Tracy, Secretary of the Navy. Gen. Tracy had been incorrectly reported as having said that he thought the day of the two-minute trotter was at hand. In reference to this Mr. Bonner wrote the letter which contains the terms of his offer:

Gen. R. F. Treev.

My Dean Sir: I know that you are a very busy man, and therefore will not treable you with a long letter—to fact, so far as I know, you were the first man to express such a boilet—il would be very much obliged if you would nawer this question: Is there, in your optically the company of the tree of the contract of the first man to express such a boilet—il would be very much obliged if you would nawer this question: Is there, in your optically would naw the fact of the first man of creating the within the time are contracted from Gleveland to Hartford.

I tell you candidly why I sak this question. I have offered to give $5,080 to the owner of any horse that would perform such a fest within the time mentioned. One gentleman has stated that I will undoubtedly have to pay it. I reply 1 do not believe Gen. Tracy himself thinks so. If not too much trouble please let us know if my reply was correct. Gen. Tracy answered that he did not believe that he would live to see a horse that would trot a mile in two minutes, but that he thought such a horse would yet appear. TAME SPORT AT LEXINGTON.

Directum Wins the Much-talked-of Three-

LEXINGTON, Oct. 8.-It was much too cold for fast performances at the Breeders' Meeting here to-day, and as all the classes decided went off in straight heats there was little to enthuse those who shivered on the grand stand. Even the Stallion Representative Stake resulted in a tame contest, three miles just below 2:20 landing the money for Directum. The Blue Grass Stake was livelier, and, after four heats, goes over till Monday. George St. but Sternberg had too much speed for him in the next two, though the black staillon had to get a mark of 2:18% in the third heat to A break in the fourth heat left Sternberg be hind, and another mistake on the homestretch gave George St. Clair the heat, and it was too The 2:40 trot, which stood as a fragment from Friday, went to Wilkesie G. without much trouble, and the 2:20 class was never in doubt after Lee Russell stepped off in the lead for the first heat. Here he scored a new mark of 2:214, and did not have to go as fast again, though fletsey Britton gave him a close call in the third heat.

The 2:32 class for three-year-olds was a gift to Lailah Wilkes, the Californian getting a record of 2:28 with nothing near her.

For Monday, in addition to the unfinished stake, the Transylvania, for 2:18 trotters, is on, with a line field. The 2:17 class, one for two-year-olds, and a dash of a mile and a hundred yards for pacer makes a card waich will open the second week of the meeting in good shape. Summaries:

WINDLE SMASHES OTHER RECORDS No Rides a Mile in 2:05 3-5 with a Standing Start. SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 8.-On the top of his remarkable performance yesterday, in which he covered a mile with a flying start in the recordbreaking time of 2 minutes 2:3-5 seconds. W. W. Windle accomplished another wonderful feat at Hampden Park to-day and threw into the shade all records made under like circumstances on a regulation track.

Mounted on a Columbia racer, with two triplet machines to act as pacemakers. Windle came upon the track this morning prepared to cut down Harry Tyler's record of 2 minutes 8 4-5 seconds, with a standing start. The weather was perfect, the track in splendid order, and the rider confident. He got away rather slowly, and it took him 35 2-5 seconds to reach the first quarter. He then settled down and covered the next quarter in 31 1-5 seconds, or 1 minute 6 3-5 seconds for the half mile. The third quarter he reached in 29 4-5 seconds, and then came dashing down the homestretch at a two-minute gait. He made the last quarter in 30 seconds, and the mile in 2 minutes 0 2-5 seconds. Windle also took a turn at breaking his phenomenal quarter and half mile records of yesterday with a flying start and succeeded. He rode a quarter in 28% seconds, against 29% seconds made yesterday, and the half was covered in 57% seconds, two seconds faster than in his 2 minutes 2% seconds mile.

Not content with his morning performances. he tackled the one-mile record again in the afternoon. He was paced by the same riders, and few expected that he would beat the morning's mark, but he did. and in a pretty burst of speed crossed the tape in 2 minutes 5% seconds. The fractional times were: Quarter, 33 3-5 seconds; balf, 1 minute 3% seconds; three-quarters, 1 minute 34 seconds; mile, 2 minutes 5% seconds. Windle beat out his pace makers in all events. It is probable that when he tries again next week the triplet machines will be geared for greater speed.
